

Kasih (SDG 2 : Zero Hunger)

Problem Statement

SDG 2: Zero Hunger aims to end hunger and improve access to food. In Malaysia, some individuals still struggle to find affordable or free meals, especially in urban areas. At the same time, many food vendors and community organizations have surplus food that goes unclaimed or wasted.

This project introduces KASIH, a mobile application that helps users locate available free food nearby through a live hotspot map, view the number of portions left, and book food before arriving for pickup. By connecting food providers with people in need, the app reduces food waste and improves food accessibility.
